DESCRIPTION OF PUBLICATIONS IN THE CATALOGUE

Monumenta Historica Societatis Iesu (MHSI)

This series provided critical editions of primary source documents generally from the Archivum Romanum Societatis Iesu (ARSI). The first edition of the first volume appeared in January 1894. Responsibility for the publication of the Monumenta was transferred from Madrid to Rome with the establishment of the Institutum Historicum Societatis Iesu (IHSI) in 1930. The 2012 catalogue lists 157 volumes. Future volumes in MHSI will be restricted to series already established, e.g. Monumenta Borgia and Monumenta Sinica. Monumenta Historica Societatis Iesu, nova series, with different criteria and procedures, replaced the MHSI in 2005.

Monumenta Historica Societatis Iesu, nova series

Established in 2005, the new series principally publishes primary source material, but, unlike the MHSI, will include critical editions, reprints, and translations. Unlike the majority of volumes in the MHSI which are arranged chronologically, the new series will generally be thematic.

Bibliotheca Instituti Historicici Societatis Iesu (BIHSI)

This series is devoted to monographs on the history and culture of the Society of Jesus. The publications are in Castilian, English, French, German, and Italian (with the occasional exception). The series was established in 1941 and so far 72 volumes have been published.

IHSI Global

Books and multimedia in the series look at Jesuit history through a global lens. Drawing on IHSI's trademark high quality production values, the IHSI Global series was founded in 2023 and produces works on Jesuit history for general and global audiences that include co-productions and joint publications. It showcases Jesuit history through a variety of media, such as material culture, oral culture, and visual representations alongside textual sources. It makes history from multiple standpoints, to include as many perspectives as possible, and thereby encompasses within IHSI's mission readers and authors from emerging areas of Jesuit history.

Subsidia ad Historiam Societatis Iesu

This series comprises various research tools for Jesuit history: catalogues of persons, specialized bibliographies, and archival indices. The first number of Subsidia came out in 1957. The 2012 catalogue lists 15 volumes published to date.

Archivum Historicum Societatis Iesu (AHSI)

The AHSI is a semi-annual journal which began publication in 1932. Articles focus on different aspects of the history and culture of the Society of Jesus, and often include critical editions of a primary source document. Prospective contributors may submit articles in Spanish, English, French, German, Italian, Portuguese, or German. The journal's style sheet will be sent upon request. A brief resumé of each article is included in at least one other language.
